

Dear Jubhele and Mpho,

Thank you for taking the time to put your concerns and questions in writing. I genuinely appreciate the thoughtful and careful approach you are taking regarding Amu's future. It is clear that every question comes from a place of wanting to protect him and make the best possible decision for his career, and I respect that completely.

I would like to begin by clarifying one important point. At this stage, we are not signing Amu into our agency as a long-term agency client. What we are currently providing is a professional placement and development service designed to help him grow faster, adapt to the Georgian football environment, and create opportunities for his career progression. The purpose of this arrangement is to give him a genuine platform from which he can develop and be seen, not simply to add his name to an agency roster.

Having worked with Amu over the past few days, I believe he has real potential. He has shown qualities that attracted my attention during the trial period, and that is the reason I have taken a serious interest in helping him. Because of that, I intend to be involved with him throughout this process helping him settle, monitoring his progress, making sure his accommodation is in order, and ensuring that any contract he signs is appropriate for his development. In practice, I will be supporting him in many of the same ways that an agent would.

I also understand that he is still a young player who is growing, both as a footballer and as a person. An 18-year-old moving abroad needs supervision and support, and I take that responsibility seriously. I will personally check on him regularly, visit his accommodation, and make sure that he is settling in properly both on and off the field. He will not simply be left alone after the placement is arranged.

At the same time, just as the club is evaluating Amu, I am also evaluating him. If he continues to show the right attitude, discipline, professionalism, and footballing level, then there is a strong possibility of a longer-term relationship with the agency in the future. Our objective is not only to help him establish himself in Georgia, but ultimately to help him progress beyond Georgia when the right opportunity comes. We are looking at his development over the next several years, not just the next few months.

Regarding the fee, it is intended to cover the work involved in securing the club contract, arranging the placement, handling negotiations and registration matters, assisting with accommodation arrangements, managing administrative procedures, and providing the platform and support structure necessary for Amu to begin his professional pathway. This is not simply a payment for a signature; it is payment for the process of creating and managing the opportunity.

On the question of playing minutes, I want to be completely honest: no agent can guarantee that a player will be selected. Playing time will depend largely on Amu's performances in training, his adaptation to the team, his fitness, and his behavior within the group. If he is training well, behaving professionally, and keeping up with the demands of the club, then I am in a much stronger position to speak with the club on his behalf. He has to give me the room to work by demonstrating those qualities consistently.

It is the same reason he attracted my interest during the trial period — his performances and attitude created an opportunity. If he continues in that way, I will do everything I can to support his development and help create opportunities for him within the club structure.

If, for any reason, he is not receiving sufficient minutes initially, we can discuss alternative development options, such as combining training with the first team while gaining additional match minutes with a reserve or B team. Unfortunately, moving him to another club immediately would not be realistic once the transfer window has closed, which is why the first focus must be helping him establish himself successfully within the current environment.

I also understand your concerns regarding safety in Georgia. While no country is completely without challenges, Amu will be in a structured football environment with the support of the club, the coaching staff, and myself. I will remain available throughout the process and continue monitoring his welfare closely. If any issue arises, I will be involved in addressing it and making sure he has the support he needs.

Regarding the request to receive the club contract beforehand, I need to be honest that this is not possible until part of the payment has been completed. The club only proceeds with the official contract and registration process once the placement arrangements have been formally confirmed. However, if you would like additional assurance, Geoff can supervise the entire process before Amu leaves, including reviewing the contract, confirming the accommodation, and verifying the arrangements that have been put in place.

The reason I am encouraging us to move quickly is not simply because of the payment schedule. FC Orbi's next official matches begin on 25 July 2026, and for Amu to be registered and eligible to participate, the paperwork needs to be completed in time. The transfer window opened on 22 June 2026 and closes on 2 August 2026, so timing is extremely important if we want him to be registered, play official matches, and have his Transfermarkt profile active and updated. In football, opportunities are often connected to registration deadlines, and missing a window can mean waiting several months for the next one.

Regarding communication with the club, there is a professional chain of command. Normally, all matters pass through the agent first, especially issues relating to registration, contracts, playing status, and administrative matters. Once Amu is registered, I will be in direct contact with the coach and club staff and will work with them regarding his development and opportunities.

If Amu becomes ill or suffers an injury, the club has medical insurance and a team doctor. The doctor will examine him, provide feedback to the coaching staff, and manage the medical process in accordance with the club's procedures. This is an important part of ensuring that players are properly looked after.

I also want to mention that all official matches are recorded, and FC Orbi will also be playing cup matches against Liga 1 and Liga 2 teams, which can provide additional exposure and competitive opportunities for him. Those matches can be valuable for showcasing his ability against higher-level opposition.

I appreciate that you are looking carefully at the payment structure and trying to reduce the financial risk on your side. I am open to discussing a structure that protects both Amu and the Agency while still allowing the registration process to move forward in time for the upcoming competitive fixtures. My intention is not to create unnecessary pressure, but to make sure that we do not lose an opportunity because of timing.

Most importantly, my goal is for Amu to have a genuine opportunity to develop, compete, and build a career step by step. I am committed to supporting him through that process. If he continues to progress, there is every possibility of building a pathway not only within Georgia but eventually beyond Georgia as well.

Thank you again for the professional and thoughtful way you have approached this discussion. I believe we all share the same objective: giving Amu the best possible opportunity to grow as a player and as a young man. I am happy to continue discussing any of these points further so that everyone can move forward with confidence.

Kind regards,
